Contact Author In the clock face position, they are located at 2 o'clock, 4 o'clock, 6 o'clock, 8 o'clock, and 10 o'clock. This makes the second digits blink. Presto! The hour digits change from civilian time to military time, or vice versa. If it is earlier than 100 pm, you wont be able to tell the difference between the civilian and military format by looking at the digits. Since the watch was seldom used, I put up with the inconvenience. It was an inconvenience because the only military time I really knew was 1600 4 o'clock. I remember 1600 from my very brief experience with the military. This time signaled the end of the workday the most important time of the day. When the formatting on my watch changed, I had to base all of my timetelling from 1600. It sort of worked but was becoming a pain. Finally, I decided to dig out the easytofollow directions that came with the watch. I am sharing this wonderful piece of information with you just in case youve lost the instructions. Comments are not for promoting your articles or other sites. It didnt work on my dads 1015 year old one, though. Mom bought mine used also, and was driving us both crazy; happened when springing forward a hour lol. The instructions were very clear; after mom figured out the 6 button was the light lol Thanks again This has been driving me crazy for years, as I could never figure out how to change it out of military time not sure how it got that way in the first place.

Of course, I never thought to push the light button, though I tried everything else a million times! This was too useful. Or the 12 hr time to 24 hr time doesn't matter. Thanks so much. I am in the military and used your instructions, but in reverse. Very easy and helpful. Thanks a million! That helped me a lot i just trying for a few months. Tried everything, but the light button. You couldn't have made it any easier. Some of the newer models of GShock watch require a different combination of buttons; refer to your manual for the exact procedure. If the manual is not available go to the Casio web site and follow the daisy chain to get a PDF for your exact watch manual. You will need the module number from the back of the watch. I held down the 10 o'clock button until the seconds started blinking then held down the light button at 6 o'clock and nothing happened, the face of the watch just lit up. Any help Push the 10 o'clock button then 6 o'clock yes the light button that was the secret to the whole thing. Other product and company names shown may be trademarks of their respective owners.
